

Auto Appraisals

Founded in 1987 and is still in business today. As a 3rd generation collector, I turned my passion for collecting 'stuff', and my love of history into 7 different business' locating vintage transportation artifacts all over the world. From prewar planes and private railcars, to vintage boats, bicycles, motorcycles & cars. I was doing good for years, living well, traveling the world and having a blast. Then, investment trends & tax codes changed, and the internet connected the world leaving my paper-based old-school research business' out of the loop. So I shut them down after my employees found other jobs, and I got by on vehicle research and appraisal work which still pays the bills 30 years later. Oh well. Then I moved my huge library, and my unique old-school knowledge, skill-sets & network of connections home, and retired to the wonderful world of Car Museums in 2010. Helping to start-up 3 so far, and now I'm helping to reinvent the 'Phoenix Trolley Museum'. How unique & fun can life get?
